GIANTS MANAGER BRUCE BOCHY:

On how speed can be dangerous and how often he thinks about Pablo Sandoval in that context:

“Yeah, speed kills doesn’t it? They were playing pretty deep there and he hit it just soft enough and he had it beat out. Got a break there. We’ve played some tough games, and it’s good to have it go our way, and it did tonight with a break there at the end. We had a blooper that feel in, an infield hit. Good ballgame. We’ve played a lot of tight games, and here’s another one that could have gone either way, but we found a way to get this one.”

On how satisfying the win is after rallying but coming up short against the A’s:

“It would have been a tough one to lose after those two tough losses in Oakland, so it’s good for the guys. The pen did a great job, one little hiccup there with the walk. Those two walks hurt us in that inning. We had a tough time getting the shutdown inning tonight, but they kept fighting and Duggar got us going. We got a runner in scoring position, and anything can happen when that happens. That time you saw it.”
