ASTROS MANAGER A.J. HINCH:

On being able to use the big swings tonight:

"Yeah, 15 hits tonight is a good sign, and getting the win is a good sign. We played a clean game, which is nice. Guys came in and did a great job. Smith came in and got his guy. Sipp came in, was great. McHugh went through the middle of their order. Rondon closes it out. So a lot of guys contributed on both sides. The bats woke up a little bit. Nice to put some hits together, especially late when the game was close. Just an overall good feeling to win."

On Springer:

"He dove after the ball in center and banged his shoulder. He came off the field and was pretty sore, and I think a little scared too because it was a weird play for him to try to cut the ball off and his left shoulder was bugging him, so we took him out of the game. He worked with the trainers the whole game. We'll see how he is, standard day-to-day, but it was his left shoulder."
