X-RAY REPORT

- Justin grew up with extremely limited means, leaving him unable to participate in many extra-curricular activities due to cost...he relied on his travel coach, Chad Raley, to take him to tournaments and provide necessary equipment... he believes Chad is a big reason he was noticed by scouts.
- Justin's love for baseball stemmed from playing games such as hitting rocks or foam footballs with a broomstick handle...from there, the game's coupling of physical ability with intelligence drew him in.
- Justin quickly developed a strong relationship with former Rays minor league hitting coordinator and current hitting coach Chad Mottola... he appreciated how Mottola never attempted to change his approach physically, but instead focused on his mental game.
- His childhood idol and role model was Ken Griffey Jr. ...he admired how "The Kid" impacted the game in all phases.
- Justin attended the MLB Rookie Career Development Program in Washington D.C. in January along with Jake Bauers and Ryan Yarbrough...the four-day orientation program included media training, time management and financial planning.
