Red Wings have 2020 vision, sign two-year extension with Minnesota Twins

Andy Lipari | Democrat and Chronicle | August 2, 2018

The Minnesota Twins signed up for two more years with the Rochester Red Wings as their Triple-A affiliate Wednesday afternoon at Frontier Field.

The contract extends the current agreement between the Twins and Red Wings two years through the 2020 season. The current contract would have ended at the end of this year.

The Twins have been the parent club of the Red Wings since 2003. Twins Executive Vice President and Chief Baseball Officer Derek Falvey said the organization has been fortunate to have the Red Wings as a partner for so long.

"In the last 15-plus years, we have forged a tremendous relationship with the Red Wings, the city of Rochester, Dan Mason, Naomi Silver and her family, and Gary Larder," said Falvey. "We are proud to count Naomi, Dan, and Gary as members of the Minnesota Twins family and the city of Rochester as an extension of Twins Territory. We are excited about what we can accomplish together moving forward."

Since the partnership began with the Twins, the Red Wings have had a .500 record or better in 11 of the 15 seasons before 2018. This year has not been one of the team's better seasons, though, as the Red Wings had a 48-58 record before Wednesday's game against Scranton/Wilkes-Barre.

There was a time during the offseason that it looked like there might not be baseball in Rochester this year. The Red Wings and Monroe County were locked into a lease negotiation over Frontier Field that ended with a 10-year extension with an option for another 10 years after that.

Silver, the Red Wings president, said the Twins stayed committed to partnering with the Red Wings as an affiliate, even if that meant in a different city.

"It was a serious discussion we had with them last year because we were all very concerned the lease may not come to fruition," Silver said. "We assured (the Twins) we would do the best we could to resolve the lease situation and they were willing to stick by us whether we were going to have a season here or elsewhere. They wanted to stay with us as a management team and we wanted to stay with them."

The Red Wings are by far the longest Triple-A affiliate the Twins have had since 1978. They were with Toledo (1978-86), Portland (1987-93), Salt Lake (1994-2000) and Edmonton (2001-02) before they came to Rochester. The Twins and Red Wings will be partners for 18 years at the end of the current contract.

The Red Wings have had many notable alumni since partnering with the Twins, including Justin Morneau who won the American League MVP in 2006. Joe Mauer has played with the Wings on rehab assignments and won the AL MVP in 2009. R.A. Dickey pitched a handful of games for the Red Wings in 2009 and went on to win the NL Cy Young Award in 2012 with the New York Mets.

The roster for the Twins in last year's wild card game against the Yankees had 22 former Red Wings and 13 who played in Rochester in 2017.

Mason said the Red Wings are lucky to be given great players and people to work with by the Twins.

"I can tell you there's a lot of minor league teams that are envious of the relationship we have with the Minnesota Twins," Mason said. "We have always felt like great partners and we're looking forward to the next two years and hopefully many more after that."

In the age of baseball where position players rest more, starting pitchers don't throw as many innings and relievers don't pitch more than a couple days in a row, major league teams are shuttling players to and from the minor leagues more than ever before.

Frontier Field and Target Field in Minneapolis are separated by over 1,000 miles or a two-hour plane ride. Falvey said he doesn't consider the distance a challenge and looks at Rochester's weather as an advantage for the Twins.

"As you look through the possible locations where there could be a Triple-A affiliate, Rochester is actually a pretty easy plane ride and it's not too challenging to get players back and forth," Falvey said. "There are some complaints about the weather in April and May, but we actually look at it as a way to train our players to deal with those elements if they are getting shuttled."

The Twins are only the third parent club the Red Wings have ever had. The Wings first partnered with the St. Louis Cardinals from 1929-1960 and then became affiliated with the Baltimore Orioles from 1961-2002.
