Minor League Clips

Minor League Matters: Six middle infielders who are making an impact

Emily Waldon and Jared Wyllys | The Athletic | July 5, 2018

Over the past two weeks, Emily and Jared have focused on standout players at different spots on the diamond. This week, they zero in on the defensive positions that can garner the most excitement: shortstop and second base.

Emily focused on the second basemen, and Jared highlights the shortstops. Here, they both agree that the Padres have the most cause for excitement up the middle.

SS Royce Lewis

Current assignment: Class-A Cedar Rapids (Twins)

Ht/Wt: 6-2/188 lbs. B/T: R/R DOB: June 5, 1999

Season Stats: 264 AB, .322/.367/.492, 85 H, 48 R, 21 2B, 8 HR, 49 RBI

At just 19 and with the weight of being the first overall pick in last year's draft on his shoulders, Lewis plays more like a seasoned veteran. Lewis got an 18-game taste of the Midwest League just months after he was drafted, and he put on a decent show last fall. He had a .757 OPS during that brief stretch, and Lewis has built on that this year. At the end of April, Lewis was hitting .316, and though he had a relative cold spell a month ago, he's hit .444 in his last 10 games.

That ability to push through a cold stretch is one reason to be enthusiastic about Lewis. His character and makeup are close to unparalleled, but advancing through any farm system often means being able to demonstrate the ability to push through a slump, as Lewis was able to do last month.

On the whole, Lewis is doing many of the other kinds of things that signify growth. His strikeout rate is down roughly five percent from what it was during his time in Cedar Rapids in 2017, and he is driving the ball to the opposite field at a slightly higher rate.

Lewis has a plus arm that can keep him on the left side of the infield as he advances, but he will need to polish his defense. Lewis has made 12 errors in about 500 innings at shortstop so far this season. He projects as an above-average defender, so it will likely just take time for him to adapt to the speed of the game at this level.

For now, Lewis is still in the Midwest League, but his bat is ready for a higher level. The Twins were aggressive with Alex Kirilloff, their 2016 first-round pick, who moved up to the Class-A Advanced Florida State League after only 252 at-bats with Cedar Rapids. And Kirilloff did not play at all in 2017 (Tommy John surgery), so he does not have many more professional plate appearances than Lewis. Given the potential in his glove and the advanced hit tool, Lewis is a safe bet to join his old teammate in Florida soon.

Lookouts' late rally falls short

Staff Report | Times Free Press | July 5, 2018

In Thursday night's Southern League game at AT&T Field, the Birmingham Barons scored all of their runs with two outs in the top of the fifth inning.

The host Chattanooga Lookouts had an opportunity to do even bigger things with no one out in the bottom of the ninth.

That rally attempt ended as quickly as it began, though, with Birmingham reliever Jose Ruiz striking out the side as the Barons held on for a 3-2 victory in front of 2,211.

Birmingham's big fifth started with Bryant Flete's one-out single to center field, and he stole second base before Alex Call struck out swinging. Alfredo Gonzalez's line drive to left put runners at the corners for Joel Booker, whose single to right scored Flete.

Gonzalez moved to third and Booker to second on an errant throw by catcher Brian Navaretto as he attempted a pickoff with Luis Alexander Basabe at the plate, and both runners came home when Basabe's pop fly fell in for a single.

Chattanooga made it 3-1 when Brent Rooker doubled with two outs in the bottom of the sixth, then scored on Andy Wilkins' single to right.

In the bottom of the ninth, Mitchell Kranson led off by reaching on second baseman Trey Michalczewski's throwing error, went to third on a single to left by Jaylin Davis and headed home on Navarreto's single to right.

That closed the gap to a run, but with Navarreto on first and Jaylin Davis on third, Ruiz struck out the next three batters.

The Lookouts, who dropped to 4-10 in the season's second half and 40-43 this year, went 2-for-11 with runners in scoring position Thursday and left eight men on base.

Chattanooga will host the Barons for the third game of a four-game series tonight at 7:15. Dylan Cease (0-0, 4.63) is scheduled to start for Birmingham, and the Lookouts will counter with Antony Marzi (0-5, 7.27).

Fort Myers Miracle loaded with Graterol, Kirilloff, Sano and Royce Lewis coming soon David Dorsey | Fort Myers News-Press | July 5, 2018

Not since 2013 have the Fort Myers Miracle had as much hype.

Miguel Sano, a 2017 Major League Baseball All-Star third baseman, has rejoined the Miracle after being a regular for them in 2013 for extra conditioning and to remake his powerful swing. Over the past week, starting pitcher Ervin Santana, returning from a hand injury and shortstop Jorge Polanco, returning from a suspension, also have played for the Miracle.

Those players with big-league experience were surrounded by prospects with big-league aspirations.

Brusdar Graterol, considered Minnesota's top pitching prospect, first-round pick and outfielder Alex Kirilloff and second-round pick and catcher Ben Rortvedt each recently joined third-round pick Travis Blankenhorn, who can play second, third, outfield and designated hitter as prospects to watch during the second half of the Florida State League season.

All of them are awaiting the arrival, any day now, of shortstop Royce Lewis, the No. 1 overall pick in the 2016 draft.

Manager Ramon Borrego's team finished the first half of the FSL season fifth out of six teams with a 28-40 record. The new, bolstered roster started the second half in first place with a 7-4 record through Monday.

Borrego's eyes widened when asked to discuss the newcomers.

"Oh man, he's something special," Borrego said of Kirilloff, 20, who was drafted out of Plum High in Pennsylvania. "He has a really nice, left-handed swing. He has excellent hand-eye coordination. He's adjusting well to playing here. He's having fun."

Kirilloff hit .333 with 13 homers and 56 RBI in 65 games for the Cedar Rapids (Iowa) Kernels of the Midwest League. He led the league in homers, RBI, hits (84) and had 20 doubles and five triples prior to his promotion to the Miracle.

"Mainly, it's the heat I have to get used to," Kirilloff said. "The talent level is better as well. It's fun. We all just enjoy being around each other. It's a great group of guys."

Graterol did not fair well in his Miracle debut, giving up five runs off nine hits in three innings Sunday. But Borrego said he wasn't concerned, not when the 6-foot-1, 203-pound right-hander can throw up to 101 miles an hour, with his fastball typically in the 96-99 range.

"His breaking pitches are really good, too," Borrego said. "Fastball, slider, changeup. When you can throw 96 to 99, and you have a changeup, and you've got it good, he can make you miss. He can throw whatever he wants."

Rortvedt, known for his defensive abilities, also has helped on offense, hitting two home runs June 22 against Bradenton.

"He has been great defensively," Borrego said of Rortvedt, drafted out of Verona Area High (Wisconsin). "He's been great with his blocking and his game calling. Offensively, he can swing the bat really well, too. I've seen the improvement offensively."

Sano hit his first Miracle home run this season on Sunday. In his first nine games since being demoted, he has hit .364 (12-for-33) with one homer, seven RBI and eight strikeouts with six walks. He has been playing about every other day, doing extra weightlifting and defensive drills and some pinch hitting on the days in which he isn't in the starting lineup.

"It's been two weeks," Borrego said of Sano's time on the team so far. "He's doing fine. He's doing everything we have asked. He's playing third base, DH. He has been lifting weights every morning. He's getting along with everybody and having fun.

"Everybody loves Sano."

Not since 2013, when future big leaguers Sano, Eddie Rosario, Byron Buxton and Kennys Vargas were on the team, has the Miracle had so much talent on the roster. Five pitchers from that 2013 also reached the big leagues: Tyler Duffey, Taylor Rogers, Kyle Davies, Ryan O'Rourke and Jason Wheeler.

The Miracle will become even more loaded after the arrival of Lewis, who remains, as of July 3, with Cedar Rapids.

"He's a great teammate," Rortvedt said of Lewis. "He's a very likable guy. He has gotten a lot better than last year. He can get to balls that most guys can't."

Bailey Ober throws a gem, Jared Akins gets his first hits as C.R. Kernels roll past Wisconsin
Jeff Johnson | The Gazette | July 5, 2018

CEDAR RAPIDS — When you get promoted to a new level and you don't get a hit in your first game, it's not that big a deal.

When your second game goes like your first, you still brush it off. When it gets to be your third, fourth and fifth games and you're oh-fer, that's when it gets tough.

So you could feel the weight of the world come off the shoulders of Jared Akins when he reached on an infield single to shortstop in the second inning Thursday night at Veterans Memorial Stadium. It was the outfielder's first hit in 20 at-bats since joining the Cedar Rapids Kernels last week from Rookie ball.

It very well could have led to his next hit in his next at-bat an inning later, a triple to the gap that essentially put his team over the top in an 8-1 win over Wisconsin.

"That felt really good," Akins said. "I was struggling when I first got up here. To come up in a clutch situation like that and score three runs, that was good."

The 21-year-old lefty swinger from Fresno State was hitting a ton the first week of the Appalachian League season for Elizabethton, which earned him his promotion to low-Class A. But it's a jump to the Midwest League, which Akins found out.

He had a positive game Wednesday night, reaching base for the first time on a walk and grounding out sharply to shortstop in another AB. Then there was this.

"Baseball is a game of failure," he said. "We're going to fail, we're going to struggle. You've just got to keep your head up. I've had to stay strong, make adjustments. I've been hitting in the cage a lot. That's about it. I knew things would turn around."

"He got up here and had a couple tough games in a row, and he started pressing, I'm sure," said Kernels Manager Toby Gardenhire. "It's hard. You come up here, and you are hoping to do good things, trying to prove yourself to everyone. Makes it tough. Then the more outs you make, the harder it gets." Jordan Gore had a three-run home run for the Kernels (44-40 overall, 12-3 in the second half) in support of starting pitcher Bailey Ober. The 6-foot-9 right-hander was dominant, allowing just three hits and a run in seven innings and striking out a career-high 12.

Ober's fastball doesn't generally get much faster than 90 miles per hour, but, with his height, he's got a long extension on his release. And his heater has the appearance of rising, though it doesn't, obviously.

"He's got a high spin rate," Manager Toby Gardenhire said. "Back before you had all of these analytics, guys would just say that his fastball gets on you. It gets on you quick. You don't realize it's coming as quick as it does. Now with all of the analytical stuff, we realize it's because his ball is spinning faster."

The Kernels hit the road for four games at Kane County, returning home Wednesday against Fort Wayne.
