Marlins Notes:

- Justin Bour hit his first two home runs of the season. It was his fourth career multi-homer game, his first since May 31, 2017 vs. Philadelphia.
- Both of Bour's homers were to the opposite field. According to Baseball Reference, it is the first time he has homered to the opposite field twice in a game, and just the sixth and seventh such homers of his 66 career long balls. Also, again from B-R, both of Bour's homers put Miami into the lead, marking the first time a Marlins' player had two such homers in a game since Marcell Ozuna on September 22, 2017 at Arizona.
- Starlin Castro extended his hitting streak at Marlins Park to 16 games with a first-inning single. The streak is tied for the longest in venue history (also, Christian Yelich in 2014).
- Castro has also reached base safely in all 11 games this season, tying Carlos Lee (2012) for the sixth-longest on-base streak to begin a Marlins' career.
- Brian Anderson was 2x3 and has a hit in 10 of his 11 games played this season. He entered the day leading MLB rookies in hits (now 13).
- Derek Dietrich extended his hitting streak to six games (.370/10x27), two short of tying his career high.

Mets Notes:

- New York's 9-1 start to the season marks the best record through 10 games in club history.
- The Mets won their seventh game in a row; their longest winning streak in 2017 was five games.
- Asdrúbal Cabrera extended his hitting streak to nine games (.378/14x37) on a solo home run in the fourth. He homered again in the eighth, marking the seventh multi-homer game of his career, the first since June 12, 2017 vs. the Cubs.
- Wilmer Flores recorded his first RBI of the season on an RBI double in the first inning, and homered in the eighth.
- Michael Conforto has reached base safely in all five games this season and recorded his first multi-hit game.

New York Mets (9-1) 8, Miami Marlins (3-8) 6
